Section II: Read the text and choose the correct answer A, B, C or D. (1.25 pts)
It is a custom in Britain and in most European countries to celebrate a person's birthday. Members of the family and close friends are supposed to be present at the party. If they cannot come, they may send a gift by post. At the party, the person who gives the birthday party opens all the gifts in front of all the people and thanks them for the gifts.

The mother usually makes a birthday cake, or if she cannot, she may order one from a cake shop. Some candles are placed on the top of the cake and they will be lit when the party starts. The number of the candles is also the age of that person. After the light is out, they sing the song "Happy birthday to you", and then play some games or sing or dance together.

Section III: Read the text and put a tick (✓) in the suitable column to decide whether each statement is true (T), false (F) or not given (NG). (1.75 pts)

A traditional English breakfast is a very big meal: sausages, bacon, eggs, tomatoes and mushrooms. But nowadays, many people just have cereal with milk and sugar, or toast with marmalade, jam or honey. Marmalade is made from oranges and jam is made from other fruit. The traditional breakfast drink is tea, which people have with cold milk. Some people have coffee, often instant coffee, which is made with just hot water. Many visitors to Britain find this coffee disgusting!

For many people, lunch is a quick meal. Pubs often serve good and cheap food. School children can have a hot meal at school but many just take a snack from home - a sandwich, a drink, some fruit and perhaps some crisps.

The evening meal is the main meal of the day for many people. They usually have it quite early, between 6.00 and 8.00, and the whole family often eats together.

On Sundays, many families have a traditional lunch. They have roast meat, either beef, lamb, chicken or pork with potatoes, vegetables and gravy.

The British also like food from other countries, especially Italian, French, Chinese and Indian dishes. People often get take-away meals – you buy the food at the restaurant and then bring it home to eat. Eating in Britain is quite international!
